ATPE hosts ‘Shoot for the STAARs Education Day’

HOUSTON, Texas – Texas elementary school students are tested in core subject areas such as reading, writing, mathematics, science and social studies through the state’s STAAR exams. In order to help Houston-area students in grades 3–5 prepare for their upcoming tests, the Texas Southern University (TSU) chapter of the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE) is hosting a free event Saturday, March 15.

Students who attend the event will receive helpful strategies for test-taking and participate in fun activities. TSU education students will engage students and parents in fun lessons that will help students be successful on their STAAR tests.

WHO:

Third-, fourth- and fifth-grade students and their parents

WHEN:

9 a.m.–12 p.m.
March 15, 2014

WHERE:

Texas Southern University College of Education
Roderick R. Paige Building
3100 Cleburne
Houston, TX 77004

A free lunch (including a hotdog, chips and a drink) will be provided for all registered students.

Parents can register students by calling (713) 313-7267 or by emailing e.hill9135@student.tsu.edu. Space is limited, so early registration is recommended.
